COMMUNITY RALLIES AROUND PRESIDENT TODD H. STROGER IN BID FOR RE-ELECTION AS COOK COUNTY BOARD PRESIDENT

More Than 800 Residents Gather In Support of President Stroger

Last night more than 800 supporters, community and religious leaders, and community activists, the self-proclaimed “Soldiers for Stroger”, gathered at Wallace’s Catfish Corner on Chicago’s West Side in support of Cook County Board President Todd H. Stroger. Led by community activists, residents voiced their approval of President Stroger’s accomplishments in health care and public safety that have directly affected and improved their community. President Stroger remains committed to improving the quality of life in every Cook County neighborhood.

President Stroger has worked diligently during his term to make sure that communities most in need have access to vital public services. “It feels good to know the people I have been working so hard to help are out here supporting me,” President Stroger stated, “In a race that is quickly heating up, your support is going to be key in winning re-election.”

Being the only candidate in this race with a proven track record in executive leadership, Cook County Board President Todd H. Stroger continues to gain momentum with grassroots organizations countywide in his bid for re-election. The “Soldiers for Stroger” voiced their approval and commitment to President Stroger’s re-election efforts.
